“ So sorry to miss the service today. I so enjoyed working with Sally, and she was my "South Jersey" connection when I lived in the Clinton area. Sally was a joy to work with, a wonderful friend. She was much loved and will be greatly missed.

“ I was privileged to work closely with Sally over the past year. She was one of those rare and wonderful people whom we meet only once in a lifetime. She was highly professional, knowledgeable and principled, with the old-fashioned work ethic, and at the same time the kindest, most patient and loving human being, a generous teacher, always willing to share her knowledge and to give her support. Where someone else would see an annoyance, she would see a new interesting challenge and a chance to learn something new. I will miss her so much.

“ Sally was a gentle, loving and generous nurse. I had the pleasure of working with her for 14 years and I never heard an unkind word. Her support helped make me the nurse I am today. She truly is one in a million and I am better for having her in my life.

“ I had the immense pleasure of living across the street from this incredible family for the past 20 years. I remember vividly moving into our new house. I was 9 and completely terrified to start over in a new place. Sally came over with the most amazing banana nut bread on this earth. I still smile when I remember that gesture. She welcomed our family to the neighborhood, invited me over to use her pool and was just sweet. I quickly began spending my time with their family. Sally taught me how to sew, something which I would later learn is a valuable skill. She had the kindest, most gentle demeanor. Everyone always came first and she gave with her whole heart. I saw her most recently over Halloween when I took my son out trick or treating for the first time. Her smile was the same, and her generosity as well. She was so patience as he navigated his first basket of candy and begun to understand she was letting him have (as many as he wanted). From the first day we met to the last day I saw her, she left a lasting mark. I was so blessed to have known her. I truly hope she is at peace smiling down at all of us. My sincerest condolences to Ali, Tammer and the rest of her family. ”

“ I was so lucky to spend an afternoon with Sally when Tammer and Annalee did the play in college. We had such a unique time watching our children act out a tragic love story. Afterwards Sally and I had lunch together and shared a bit about ourselves and our families. I had hoped to spend more time with her but that was not to be. My sincere condolences to Ali and Tammer and the extended family. My daughter was so fond of Sally. It will surely leave a big gap in her life without Sally being there for holiday occasions.

Fondest regards
