“ Theresa and her daughter Lisa were the first two people our family met when we moved my mom, Cookie, into the Chelsea. Because of their shared Italian heritage, Theresa and Cookie became fast friends, talking frequently about Italian food and traditions. Even as my mom declined from the Alzheimer's Disease, Theresa was always kind and loving towards her, patiently listening or simply sitting next to each other, often holding hands. Theresa was a woman of character and dignity, whose greatest successes are reflected in the generations of her loving family who were devoted to her. May she rest in peace in the embrace of the Lord, where she truly belongs.

Sincerely, Cookie's family (Frank, Martine, and Gabrielle)
